FANANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONEY MARKET.

TUBSDAY, Feb. 27-6 P. M. The stock market opened heavy this morning. The sales were to about the usual extent, but they were in large lots, showing the class of operators at ork on the fancies. Indiana 5's fell off i per cent at the first board to-day; Illinois Central Bonds, ‡; Cumberland Coal, 1; New York Central Bailroad, 4; Eric Railroad, 1; Harlem, 1; Panama Railroad, 3; Missouri 6's were freely offered to-day, and sold down a half per cent from the opening. Beading was in active demand to-day, and was sustained amidst the general decline. Panams Railroad files amidst the general decline. Panams realross are about like the most fancy on the market. A varia-tion of two or three per cent from one day to abother appears to be a small affair. It opened this abother appears to be a small affair. It opened this morning at 100, and closed at 107 per cent. The unfavorable bank a count this morning undoubtedly had a corres, onding effect on the market, but there sorning at 109, and closed at 107 per cent. The is a weakness in prices from other causes which cannot be overcome. There are no buyers in the street, and they cannot be brought in to purchase fancy stocks. Confidence in these as mrities is entirely gone. Outsiders will lend merey on some of these stocks but they will not touch them on their wn account. The brokers are, therefore, loaded ting up prices. After the a journment of the board, the following ales of stocks and bonds were made at au tion, by Simeon Draper :--

The Reliance Mutual Insurance Company, it will be seen from the statement of the Finance Commitsee, (Mesers. Athur Leary, L. B. Wyman and J. H. Smith,) have stopped business. For the last month the trustees have been actively engaged in raising means to sustain the concern, and over a quarter of a million was raised contingent on the solvency of the company, but heavy losses, not originally known, prevented the success of the undertaking.

The Boston Journal of the 21st inst., says:

The Boston Journal of the 21st inst., says:—
There was a considerable flurry in Vermont Central stock, which opened at 3 and run rapidly down to 23g at 6rst board, at which rate it closed; but afterwards the stock was offered for sale at lower rates. There are three attachments upon the corporation, and the road, en the third attachment, (by a contractor,) is acvertised to be sold in Vermont to morrow, the claim being only about one hundred and fifty dollars, (2150.) The directors have taken measures to secure the property of the stockholders, by buying in the stock at anotion, the Tressurer of the Company having gone to Vermont for that purpose. The party who should buy the road could not held it, as by the queer laws of Vermont, it can be aftached and sold any number of times by any stockfelder, or any person who may have a claim, no matter have trilling. The attachment and sail is a mere farce.

In relation to the experiments of the New Jersey Franklinite Company, the Busnex Herald says:

We have been embled, through Robert Howell, Enq., the agent of the New Jersey Franklinite Company, to inapport a specimen of franklinite iron recoulty unde at the Franklin Farnace. It is very handsome and closely resembles steel. This iron is the best in the world, particularly for steel. The chief obstacle to its production hitherto, has been the difficulty of separating the sinc, which is one of its constituents, from the from The recent trial is the first ever made on a large scale. The company has expended over $190,000 in preparing the works at Franklin Furnace for the manufacture of this iron. They have not progressed sufficiently far to furnish adequate grounds for a decided opinion, but the expenditure they have incurred exhibits strong condence in the success of the undertaking. It is calculated that the rine produced will pay the expense of manufacturing the iron. Should this anticipation be realized, the Company has a splendid future before it. This county is deceptly interested, for the franklinite mines are inexhaustible, and the establishment of a fine home market would be the natural resuit of a permanent and excensive system of iron and zine manufacture. The flowers of zine, as yet produced, have a yellow tinge caused, it is thought by some, by the copious use of yellow clay in smelting.

The iron is of the mest subendyd graelite.

The iron is of the most splendid quality, excelling in tenecity and strength the far farmed Danaemore This species of fron can be seld as fast as made into pigs. The mines, we understand, are inexhaus tible; and when the necessary appliances of capita are put in motion, a large and profitable business will be done. The produce of the zinc itself, we are told, is nearly sufficient to pay the expense of min ing and casting the iron into pigs. There is large in terest in Boston in this enterprise; and the iron men in this city who have seen the specimens manufactured under Mr. Selleck's process, deem the iron unsurpassed in excellence.

Last fall, two or three meetings of the stockholders of the New Haven Railroad Company were held in this city, for the purpose of taking into consideration the disposal of the over-issued stock. After several scenes of considerable violence, an adjournment was made to New Haven, where, in November, a meeting was held. For some time previous to the day fixed for the meeting, a clique of old stockholders, at the head of which was an individual named Samuel D. Bradford, of Boston-a retired capitalist, a trustee in the Harvard University, and who voted against the election of Com. missioner Loring to the law professorship of that institution on account of his having randered a decision in favor of the Fugitive Slave law in the case of Burns-met almost daily at the office of John E. Thayer & Brother, bankers, of Boston, and made up a list of directors to take the place of the old, or Schuyler board. At these frequent sittings it was determined by this clique to ous the old management and put in such men as they could control, so as to commence action at once against holders of the new stock. At the adjourned meetng of stockholders the new directors were proposed by Mr. Bradford, and the old board was requested to resign. About seven thousand shares voted on the questions, when they were declared carried, and the meeting adjourned. Soon after the old directors resigned and the repudiating board came into power. We appex the names of the new board. with the amount of stock held by each:-

Although this board was elected at an informal meeting of the stockholders, where only about eight thousand shares of stock were represented, and was nominated by a clique of repudiators, three or four of the directors are in favor of an amicable adjustment of all claims, and decidely op posed to repudiation or the plea of usury. is the prevailing opinion in this community that a representation of even one-half of the old stock at the meeting referred to would have prevented the election of a single repudiator. The friends of repudiation mustered at the meeting in full force, and the amount of stock they represented shows their entire strength. We doubt if they could control as much stock again to vote en that question We have great faith in the second sober thought of the people, and believe that in this matter it wil prove triumphant on the side of honor and justice For the purpose of showing the influence that will aid such a course, we give the names of some o' our most prominent citizens, with the amount o stock held by each:-

Here we have a dire	of interest emounting to riere we have a dire	ct interest amounting to about five thousand shares, and an indirect interest amounting to more than double that quantity. The shove list comprises some of our most solid men. and we do not believe there is one who would countenance repudiation of the over-issued stock in any shape. There are scores of others basides those we have pamed, who would join in any plan that might be devised to place the two classes of stocks on the same footing. The regular annual election for a new Board of Directors takes place in May when some decided step will be taken to bring about a satisfactory compromise. In the meantime, semething should be done to place this matter right before the public. There are parties mixed up with the proceedings, which have already been commenced in our courts, whose duty it is to adopt uch measures as the occasion requires to remove the odium now attached to all connected with the New Haven Railroad Company as old stockholders-If any of the gentlemen named above are implicated in the matter, and consent that the plea of usury shall be put in by their representatives, for the purpose of destroying what is considered a just claim, then it should be known, and the only way open for them to repudiate such a policy is to publicly define their post tion. It would be some satisfaction, doubtless to the parties aggrieved to know that there is a dis position on the part of the most influential holders of the old stock to do them justice, and also to know that at the proper time they will use all fair and honorable means to secure the election of a board of directors who will adjust all difficulties upon principles of equity and justice. This matter will not be permitted to sleep. Of all the embarrassments produced in our large incorporated companies, by the acts of officials, this alone remains unsettled. Stockholders in other concerns adopted the only true system in arranging opposite interests. and in every instance ruccess has been the result

It is more than two years since the stockholders in the New Haven Raitroad Company received a dividend, and if litigation gets under full beadway between holders of the two classes of stock, it will probably be twice two years more before anything in the shape of a dividend is paid. The net earnings of the road would be partially used up in law expenees, and whatever might be the surplus, it could not be touched until all questions at imme were finally disposed of. At the present market value of the old stock of the New Haven Company, the capital stands at about one million of dillars showing a depreciation of two millions. The whole of the new issue could be compro mised for a sum considerably less than what is represents, so that in the event of new stock being issued at, say sixty per cent, so as to leave the capital according to the charter, two-thirds of the present depreciation would disappear as soon as the stock reached the new par value, leaving a de-ficiency of only about half a million of dollars. By such a compromise the old stock would, in less than twelve mouths, more than double is value. It should be bore in mird that the old stockholders have already lost considerably more than one-half of the total par value of the new issue, and so far as realiz ing on the stock is concerned, the whole is as bad as lost. As an investment under existing circumsucces, it is so much dead capital. Three million of dollars are now locked up, and, to holders of old stock, useless; while, by a fair compromise—one that ald wipe out all dishonorable pleas, all the disgrace of repudiation, one that would do more to raise the sinking credit and character of railroad compa nice than ten times the amount of money involved in any other way—the entire capital would be one active and productive, and those desirous of realizing could do so. We venture to say that there is not a holder of old stock in the New Haven Railroad Company who would refuse sixty per cent for every share he held. They would all be glad to get that price, and look about for something else to put the proceeds in. The only way by which that figure can be realized is through a compromise with the holders of new stock. Every princi, le of honor and honesty, every interest, pub and private, points to such a policy, and if the right connels prevall, that and none other will be pursued. All the technicalities of the law we throw to the wind, all the opinions of lawyers we care nothing about, all the legal points bearing ia favor of or against, we discard, and place the whole matter upon the broad ba is of justice and equity. We have too much law in the arbitration of questions which arise in the administration of incorporated companies, or in individual affairs, and we wish to see it avoided in the case of the New Haven Rullroad Company, for the benefit of all parties, the legal profession excepted. 6000 do ... 88 20 shs Del & H Ca Co 1143/ 10 Merchants' Ex Bk 1003/ьіо 50 Bk State N York. 104
